Player Post

"PlayerPost.com has attempted and continues to strive to provide a safe and secure marketplace for gamers to buy, sell or exchange intangible goods within games."

We continue to support the notion that a gamer's time invested has value and if that gamer deems that value should transfer to the game items in which they hold, that if they find a buyer who sees such a similar value in the time it took to obtain such game items, that there should be a right to transact as services rendered in exchange for compensation
